

"What was her course with reference to the Morro?"

"About four miles distant and a little eastward to south of it."

"What was the distance between the blockading positions of the Oregon and the Brooklyn?"

"From three to four miles in the day time, they were nearer together at night."

"What was the relative position of the American ships when the Spanish vessels came out?"

THE OREGON'S POSITION.

"The Iowa was due south, the Texas on her port hand about the Brooklyn farther off to the westward. The Oregon was to the right of the Iowa and the Indiana in shore to the eastward with the New York in the distance. I remember immediately looking for the flagship and saw her off seven or eight miles towards Siboney."

"Did the Oregon at any time pass between the Brooklyn and the Spanish ships?"

"Not when they were offering any active resistance; she did as the Spanish vessels turned to go ashore."

"When the Oregon changed her direction toward the Brooklyn had the Brooklyn completed her turn?"

"I am under the impression that she had; she must have done so."

"What was the position of the Oregon when she turned to the westward, during the battle of Santiago?"

"She was lying still in the water, and we turned to head off the Spanish fleet. We overtook all but the Colón very quickly."

DR. DEVALIN.

Dr. Charles M. Devalin followed Commander Nicholson. He said that he had been medical officer on board the Brooklyn, and had observed the battle of July 3 from the foremast. He gave a brief description of the battle, saying he had been present when Yeoman Ellis had been killed and he had observed Commander Schley during the entire engagement. "His conduct and bearing," said the witness, "was all that could be expected. He seemed to know what he was about and to be doing all that he wished to do. He was in perfect control of the situation."

In response to questions from Capt. Lemly, the witness said that he had heard Commander Schley give the order "Helm hard to port," and had heard no one else give it. In response to a question he said that he had at that time heard no colloquy or altercation concerning this order.

"Haven't you stated heretofore that you did hear such a conversation?"

"I may have so stated but I do not now remember and cannot repeat any conversation of the kind."

"Have you not heretofore repeated it?"

At this point Mr. Raynor interrupted Capt. Lemly's examination with a protest against the putting of his question without giving the names of persons with whom witness was supposed to have had the conversation in question, but Capt. Lemly objected to this interruption and insisted upon the regularity of the procedure.

Speaking for the court, Admiral Dewey sustained Mr. Raynor's point, saying: "We know more law now than we did before. Time, place and names of individuals should be given. I would not like myself to have such a question put to me; no one would like it."

Capt. Lemly then asked:

"Did you tell Lieut. Ward in Portsmouth, N. H., on August 6, that you had heard a conversation in which the word 'Texas' was used?"

The witness said he had no recollection of saying anything at that time about the Texas.

CAPT. HANNUM.

Dr. Devalin was then excused and Capt. John L. Hannum was called. He was the chief engineer on board the Brooklyn and of the flying squadron during the Cuban campaign. Capt. Hannum's testimony, taken from replies to questions by the court related entirely to the condition of the collier Merrimack May 27 and 28. He said that on the forenoon of May 27, he and Commander Schley had ordered him to go aboard the collier; that having done so he found her intermediate valve gear entirely disordered; he also said that while the Merrimack was not entirely helpless, her horse power was reduced one-third, and that she was able to hobble along only at the rate of four or five knots an hour.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Salt Lake Opera company had a brilliant reception in Provo last night. The company and its friends to the number of about one hundred, took a Short Line special for the Garden City at 8:30; were whirled to the theater in carriages, gave their complete performance of "The Wedding Day," dashed back to the depot at 11:30 and were landed here at 12:40 in time to catch the waiting street cars. Quite a number of theater goers were also picked up and returned home after performance at Lehi, American Fork, and Pleasant Grove.

The handsome little theater at Provo on which Mr. Jesse Knight, the new owner, has recently expended $5,000 in improvements, is now a gem of beauty and convenience, the new commodious dressing rooms being especially appreciated by the members of the company. "The Wedding Day" was an ovation of applause from beginning to end, and the house was crowded with a brilliant audience. Miss Arvilla Clark, who hails from Provo, had an ovation on her entrance. The present manager, Mr. J. H. McEwan, has reason to feel proud of his theater, and that the improvements he has made are appreciated by the people of Provo, is shown in the fact that the theatrical business there is steadily on the advance.

The two last performances of "The Wedding Day" in this city occur tomorrow afternoon and evening. Logan will then fall for good on what has been the local company's most successful effort.

REFORM LEAGUE ASKS QUESTIONS

Candidates Are Brought Face to Face With Plain Propositions.

THEY MUST MAKE PLEDGES

To Keep Saloons Closed on Sunday And to Discourage Sunday Sports—Answers Will be Read Friday.

If elected will you use your best endeavors for the strict enforcement of the ordinances relating to:

- 1—Sunday liquor selling?
- 2—Gambling houses?
- 3—Selling liquor to minors?
- 4—Selling tobacco to minors?
- 5—Allowing minors in saloons and billiard halls?
- 6—Are you willing to favor a city ordinance against Sunday baseball and football playing?
- 7—Will you pledge yourself to seek a stricter police supervision of certain rooming houses, with the object of abating the evils therein prevailing?

Please forward reply to Mr. Eugene M. Cannon, secretary, 202 Templeton building, not later than the 24th inst.

The Moral Reform League, composed of representatives of nearly every church organization of the city met last evening, drew up the foregoing questions and today submitted them to every candidate for political office in the city. And no doubt each one of the candidates realizes how much depends upon his answer.

Those present at the meeting were: Dr. Louise Unger and Miss Bertha Meyer, for the Young People's Christian Union; Mrs. Matilda Lyman and Miss Anna Baker, representing the Young Women's Christian Union; Rev. George Bailey and Rev. Richard Wake, of the Ministerial association; Horace H. Smith, of the Y. M. C. A.; Dr. Merrill of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor; Dr. T. A. Clawson, the High Council of the Mormon Church; James W. Saville, H. J. Walk, Eugene M. Cannon and Heber S. Cutler, representing the Deseret Sunday School Union.

The first steps taken in the reform movement by the Sunday school committee were reviewed by Chairman Cutler for the benefit of those who were not identified with the work at that time. But they all expressed themselves as being in hearty accord with what had been done, and would support every action in the future. On motion of Richard R. Lyman the following committee was appointed to formulate the questions that should be submitted to the candidates of every party, and upon the answers to the same will depend the direction in which we will bend our energies and our votes on election day.

"We ourselves are members of different political parties and are associated at this time with the sole and only purpose of securing better moral conditions in our city."

The letters will be sent to each of the candidates. An adjournment was taken until next Friday evening, when the answers will be read and dissected. It appeared to be the sense of the meeting that the Reform League should be a permanent organization and work sedulously for a high moral tone in Salt Lake City.

MRS. HILTON DEAD

Mother of Chief of Police Passed Away This Morning.

Mrs. Mary A. Atteck Hilton, wife of David Hilton, and mother of Chief of Police Hilton, died this morning at her home of general debility. It will be with profound regret that her many friends will learn of the sad event.

She passed away peacefully and without a struggle at 8:50 o'clock this morning, and it may be said she slept in peace.

About two months ago Mrs. Hilton contracted pneumonia and on account of her age, her life was despaired of at that time. But possessed of wonderful vitality she partially recovered and was able to leave her bed.

About a week ago she was taken ill again and on Saturday took to her bed. From that time until her death she had been gradually sinking and during the last two days she was so low that every breath was expected to be her last. When the end came this morning

PURE FOODS FOR SALT LAKE

OPENING OF STORE TOMORROW NIGHT.

At 63 East First South street is located the St. Helena Sanitarium Food company, an establishment similar to what is being operated in the principal cities of the western coast. It is the intention of the proprietors to fill a long felt want in this community and will cater to the trade of all those who desire good wholesome food to eat. A full line of the St. Helena, Cal., and Battle Creek, Mich., Sanitarium foods will be carried with a carefully selected line of California canned and dried fruits, olive oil, olive oil, nuts, legumes, etc. Also health literature and appliances.

The use of these foods is not confined to health sanitariums alone, but is becoming popular in the homes of the people all over the world. The services of a young lady graduate of the cooking department of the Sanitarium at Battle Creek, Michigan, have been secured, who will cheerfully give information to patrons regarding the preparation of these products. On entering this new store, one is struck with the clean, neat and business like appearance which will certainly be an incentive for all to call there. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to attend the opening tomorrow evening. Each lady visitor will receive a present.

Boss Tweed the Future—Ajax and Carisa Both Stronger.

With the exception of Uncle Sam all of the active stocks were very buoyant this afternoon. Boss Tweed was as strong as the post and it is safe to say the highest business ever transacted in that security was recorded this afternoon. One broker bought nearly all the stock sold, which amounted to 20,000 shares. After opening at 60, the price jumped rapidly to 82. Nothing was reported from the property today by Willard Snyder, so that it is presumed that the stock did not change there. Ajax sold up to 93, with the sale of 5,000 shares, while Carisa moved up to 11.25, after opening at 11.24. Uncle Sam advanced to 11.25 with the sale of 10,000 shares. May Day was active at 11.17. Con Mercur was traded at 11.25 while Day-West was traded at 11.25. Tesora closed at 11.25 with the sale of 10,000 shares. Victor was traded in at 63. Tetro sold at 32 1/2.

George J. Gould and Railroad Officials Inspecting Sugar Factory.

Word was received in this city this afternoon that the George J. Gould party would arrive in this city tomorrow morning. This afternoon the special was to have stopped at Lehi where all on board could inspect the sugar factory. Upon the arrival here tomorrow all concerned will take a drive around the city and be entertained with a special repast at the Tabernacle. In addition to the party, it is said that Vice-President Harding and Warner, Freight Traffic Manager Smith, General Freight Agent Lincoln, Solicitor General, President Jeffrey, General Manager Metcalfe, Traffic Manager Hughes and General Superintendent A. E. Welby of the Rio Grande lines are among the party.

GRAVE IDENTIFIED.

That of Mother of Mrs. H. J. Grant and Mrs. A. O. Woodruff.

Last evening's "News" contained a letter from R. F. Neelen, general agent of the Burlington to W. C. Spencer of the President's office, calling attention to the discovery on the North Platte of a grave above which was an old wagon tire bearing the name "Rebecca Winters."

It was thought that Mrs. Winters might be a Mormon pioneer; and it was believed that she was the wife of the President's father. She died and was buried on this spot in 1832. She was the grandmother of Mrs. H. J. Grant and Mrs. A. O. Woodruff.

WITH THE JUSTICES.

In Justice Dana T. Smith's court this afternoon, C. W. Draper of Ogden is having a preliminary hearing on the charge of forgery, there being two counts in the complaint. It is alleged that on September 27 he forged the name of G. W. Hull to a check on the Deseret National Bank for $10, and also signed the name of B. C. Harvey, en-

E. H. HARRIMAN IS COMING TO UTAH

Will Inspect the Oregon Short Line and O. R. & N. Systems.

ALSO VISIT SAN FRANCISCO.

J. C. Stubbs, in interview, says That All Men Are Being Taken Care of Under the Consolidations.

San Francisco, Oct. 18.—The general officers of the Southern Pacific company have received word from E. H. Harriman, the new president of the railroad, that he intends coming to Salt Lake City. While on the coast it is expected that he will make a tour of inspection of the entire Pacific system. He will also run over the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railroad and Navigation roads.

J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman roads, who is here to attend the marriage of his daughter, says it is a mistake to assert that by the consolidation of the traffic departments of the Harriman roads in the west under him many men lost positions.

"With hardly an exception," he added, "all the men were taken care of. In fact some have better jobs now than they had before."

The visit of E. H. Harriman to Salt Lake and his inspection of the lines in which he is interested so heavily will undoubtedly be followed by some extensive improvements which will result in the rebuilding of Salt Lake. It is the general opinion that following his visit here that the so often adjoined Union Pacific and Southern Pacific will be held and the Harriman directorate elected. Following this the work on the Oregon Pacific cut-off will be instituted. Mr. Harriman will be on the spot and will see to it that the cut-off either across the lake or round the south end of the inland sea into Salt Lake City. If the Southern Pacific comes into this city it will mean that the Union Pacific will follow suit and Salt Lake will become the railroad center of the West. The work upon the Union Pacific cut-off has been completed in Wyoming and now the Southern Pacific improvements will be undertaken. It is predicted that next spring will see the building of the cut-off from Utah into Salt Lake and the Union Pacific and the construction of the south cut-off of the Southern Pacific. As a prominent Union Pacific official told the "News" last July, "It is bound to come, and it is a logical meeting point for the transcontinental systems." With the Burlington and the San Pedro lines heading towards Salt Lake, the appointed time is at hand for E. H. Harriman to get in on the ground floor in Salt Lake, and it is the opinion of men in this city who are in touch with the situation that the visit of Mr. E. H. Harriman will be followed by some radical changes in the railroad map of Utah.
